Report back on Strategic Planning Day at 2.15 on Live

Catch Carolyn at about 2.15pm on Lighter Footprints Facebook here - look for the top post - giving a report back on February's Strategic Planning Day.

If joining the Zoom with a laptop (so you can see more clearly) you will need to allow some time to download the free Zoom app - download the free App here.

Message from Carolyn:

This arrangement will enable those of us who do not need to self-isolate (you can check here) to come along for an hour or so to talk with a small number of Lighter Footprints members. We will of course follow recommended safe practices during the meeting.

For those who are unable to attend in person, we will video the first part of the meeting via Facebook Live. This live stream will report on the strategic planning day, where we are planning to go from here, and leaders of the various working groups will describe their activities. However, the Facebook Live stream only provides a one-way flow of information and doesn't allow you the chance to offer what you'd be able to do. We hope you'll respond by email!

A simple afternoon tea will be provided however we understand if you prefer to bring your own provisions.

Our next monthly meeting is likely to be connecting you on Zoom - more later, so this may be the last opportunity for a while to get together.

Kind regards,

Carolyn Ingvarson

Coming up in March:

Climate, the Finance Sector and Shareholder Action

There will be online options for attendance and discussion.

Pablo Brait and Rachel Deans have been working for many years now as part of climate lobby group Market Forces, assessing the power of money to drive the fossil fuel agenda, and what we can do about this. Often our money is being used without our awareness, to prop up coal, oil and gas.

These two speakers are experts in the finance sector, and will explain how we can join in effective campaigns to exert pressure on large investors. Learn more about the roles we can play as shareholders and in creating policy change in the finance sector. Come and be enlightened and surprised by how much influence you can wield.

Join us on March 25 - 7.00 for 7.30 and enjoy a warm welcome, a glass of wine and home made nibbles. RSVP here, and please support us on Facebook here.

Thanks for your RSVP, which will help us to keep in touch with further instructions on how to join this meeting. Many of you will be likely to be joining in via Zoom, or watching in on Facebook Live. We will update you with more specific instructions closer to the date.

Looking forward to seeing you at the Guide Hall, 2pm, 1 Faversham Rd, Canterbury, Sunday or online!
